T. W. Stubblefield, president of the Fourteenth Street Savings Bank, has returned from an extended automobile trip through Virginia. Mr. Stubblefield was away almost two weeks, and while entour made it a point to inquire into economic conditions the agricultural communities through which he pawsed. He reports that farmers throughout Virginia are looking forward to a good fall crop, and apparently are unmoved by any possible political or economic shake-up. Mr. Stubblefield and the growing interest on the part of Washingtonians in farm property in Virginia corresponds to a like interest among residents of near-by Virginia points in Washington realty.
